About INVENTORUM:

INVENTORUM is everything a start-up should be.

We are led by a Silicon Valley veteran and supported by a German serial entrepreneur. We care about our employees. We are creating a vision-driven killer product and are striving to make our customers happy. We work hard but respect people's lives, expect excellence and encourage personal development.

We reside in a lof in Berlin-Mitte, the new hub for start-ups in one of the best cities in the world. Its history, culture, and quality of life are well-known. Housing is still cheap here, you get a full meal for 5 Euros and for families there are great international schools and day care centers.

We are looking for men and women who are passionate, understand the urgency of start-up setting and take pride in the ownership of their tasks while functioning fully in a team setting. For this position, INVENTORUM is looking forward to hearing from applicants with technology and leadership experience. Our compensation is competitive in salary, bonuses and stock options and includes all the benefits of German social security. We are an equal opportunity employer and encourage anybody to apply who feels to be up to the challenge.

Please email us at: jobs@inventorum.com with your CV, include your Github profile and your earliest possible start date. This is a full-time position in Berlin. We can provide assistance in obtaining visa and work permits if needed.

Attention: Please send us your CV in English.
